

Pretty Poison's Jade Starling Releasing First Solo Album

Philly's own pioneering dance pop icon, Jade Starling, lead singer of Pretty Poison, who were all over '80s pop radio with the smash "Catch Me I'm Falling," will release her debut solo album Captive on August 12.

Yay! That is such good news, since her voice is amazing. Catch me I'm falling... falling in love. Ooh, ooh, I'm falling. Sorry, the sixth grader in me HAD to!

The lovely and talented Starling has maintained a rabid fan base over the years through the support of the dance club scene with a huge gay following, even though she's straight.

The first single from Captive is the smash "Insomniak."

Watch the video below.
